

Principle courses of PhD

VHM-2130 Advanced Technology in the Management of Animal, Poultry, and Fish	-Impart knowledge essential for the optimal husbandry of the individual farm, equine, companion, and laboratory animalspecies. -To provide information for the effective prevention of management associated illnesses. -To cultivate a sense of care and responsibility to animals. -To cultivate a professional, open-minded, and informed attitude towards animal welfare and veterinary ethics.
VHM-2131 Abnormal Behaviour of Animal and Poultry	Understand the basic principles of normal behavior in farm animals, poultry, and fish. Know the causes of abnormal behavior in animals and how to solve the behavioral problems in the farm.